

Organizational Structure

As a line bureau, MGB is composed of a Central Office and fifteen (15) Regional Offices situated in major regional center in the country. Its Central Office is headed by a Director and its Regional Office is headed by a Regional Director. The Central Office Director reports directly to the Secretary of Department of Environment and Natural Resources, and at the same time, exercises administrative supervision over its various Regional Offices.

At the regional level, an MGB Regional Director is autonomous from the DENR Regional Office / Regional Executive Director. A coordinative relationship, however, exist between them insofar as planning and implementation of DENR national programs that involve MGB's functions and expertise are concerned.
